

THE SIGNAL OF SILENCE

The Signal of Silence

Introduction

This is a custom mission by cornernote for the game Space Crusade: Galactic War Table Edition on Tabletop Simulator.

Background

A derelict vessel, the Fury of Anvil, drifts at the edge of the sector. Long thought lost in the warp, it has reappeared, broadcasting a corrupted distress signal. The Imperium wants it investigated—if there is salvage, it must be claimed. If there is infestation, it must be purged.

Mission 1: Ghost Ship

Briefing to the Space Marines:

The Fury of Anvil has returned from the void, her vox emitters repeating fragments of an old Imperial hymn. Your task is to board, locate the ship's command nexus, and determine the source of the signal. Expect resistance—scanners show movement inside.

Primary Objective:

Reach the Command Nexus room and search the terminal. (One marine must spend a full turn there without taking another action.)

Secondary Objective:

Recover the Gene-Seed relic from a fallen Marine squad (place a marker in a separate room). Carrying model must survive to extraction.

Special Rules:

Once the terminal is accessed, roll a die:

- 1-3: The signal is a trap—Genestealers ambush immediately (reinforcement wave spawns).
- 4-6: The system downloads partial coordinates to a hidden chamber (unlocking Mission 2 story).

Mission Success:

Marines extract with the data.

Mission Failure:

If all Marines are killed or forced to withdraw, Mission 2 becomes harder (extra reinforcements).

Mission 2: The Core of Corruption

Briefing to the Space Marines:

The corrupted data reveals the Fury of Anvil's true fate. Deep in the reactor core, xenos infestations pulse around a captured Imperial AI. The AI is broadcasting the signal as bait, luring prey into the ship. You must destroy the corruption before it spreads.

Primary Objective:

Destroy the Infestation Core (place in central room or reactor chamber). It has 4 Health; each time a Marine spends an action in the room, they may attack it as if it were an enemy target. Heavy weapons do +2 damage.

Secondary Objective:

Rescue a surviving Tech-Priest (place in nearby chamber). He joins the Marines but cannot fight—must be escorted to extraction.

Special Rules:

Each time the Infestation Core takes damage, the Alien player gains +1 reinforcement point immediately.

If the Tech-Priest is rescued alive, Marines may re-roll one failed attack per turn (representing his aid with systems).

Mission Success:

Core destroyed before Marine squad is wiped out.

Campaign Victory

If Marines rescue the Tech-Priest and destroy the Core, the Imperium recovers precious intelligence on xeno corruption.

Otherwise, even in destruction, the infestation may return...